MSOP CAMPAIGNS

KEVIN RUTHERFORD

The Memphis School of Preaching students conducted three door-knocking campaigns this past October. They were blessed to work with Caleb Aldridge and the Sylvan Springs church of Christ in Alabama, Renn Ferguson and the Collinsville church of Christ in Illinois, and Ryan Manning with the Somerville church of Christ in Tennessee.

Gospel Meetings were held in conjunction with these door-knocking campaigns. Our students were able to arrive the Saturday before the meeting, attended the Sunday services, and then began door-knocking on Monday. Each day the students conducted a morning devotional then knocked doors until lunch. After lunch they went door-to-door again until the dinner break. The students also attended the Gospel Meeting each night.

Once the initial contacts were made and the ground-work laid for the campaigns, they were turned over to student leaders. Our capable student campaign leaders for the fall were Ben Williams, Caleb Bennett, and Eli Sales. Ben's team knocked on a thousand doors in Alabama; Caleb's team knocked on 1,500 in Illinois; Eli's team knocked on 1,200 in Tennessee.

The ground-work for the MSOP spring 2023 campaigns has been set. We will be conducting two campaigns in Missouri. One will be in Higginsville, MO where David Long is the preacher. The other will be in Saint Charles, MO where Jordan Pugh preaches. Our student campaign leaders for the spring are Kaleb Nelson and Mark Garner.

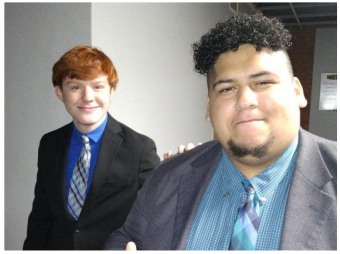

The Gospel Meetings for our upcoming spring campaigns will be conducted by the students. There will be six lessons in each meeting and so there will be six different students who will preach. Other students will be conducting the morning Devotionals, and all will be participating in the door-knocking.

Congregations that host campaigns are given the choice between choosing their own Gospel Meeting preacher, asking for a staff member from MSOP to speak, or asking for the students to do the preaching. Congregations will also be given the option to produce their own materials for handing out at the doors, or asking us to custom create and print the door-knocking literature.

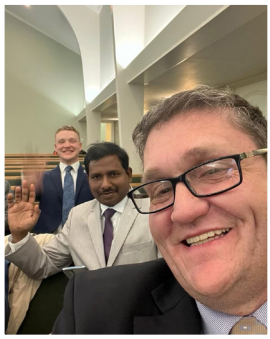

If the congregation where you work is interested in setting up an MSOP student campaign you are welcome to email Kevin Rutherford at krutherford@msop.org. At this point it looks as though we have enough campaigns to finish out 2023 and 2024. If you are interested we can put you on the list for 2025 or beyond.
